To Whom It May Concern:

Please accept this letter as an update to our prior April 1, 2022 correspondence regarding the products listed below. As you are aware, Section 12(n) of the Richard B. Russell National School Lunch Act requires that school food authorities (SFAs) operating school meals programs purchase domestically produced (grown) and processed foods, to the maximum extent practicable consistent with certain requirements of the Buy American Act (BAA). As part of these requirements, any product processed by a winning vendor must contain over 51% of the product's food component, by weight or volume, from U.S. origin, unless an exception under the BAA applies. Our products meet this standard when domestic food products necessary to produce these items are commercially available at reasonable prices.

Please be advised that the J&J Snack Foods/Country Home Bakers products listed below continue to meet the requirements of the BAA.

With respect to the products identified below, however, more than 51% of the products' food components are sourced outside of the United States but these products nonetheless meet BAA requirements for well-established exceptions. Specifically, pineapple juice is not available domestically in sufficient and reasonably available quantities of satisfactory quality, and the cost of a competing domestic apple juice product is significantly and prohibitively higher than the non-domestic product.
