
Let this serve as notice there are no canned pineapple or canned mandarin oranges for general foodservice distribution which are “Product of the United States”. Any canned pineapple or canned mandarin orange product for general foodservice sale are products of foreign countries. There are no domestic producers for either of these canned item categories. Country of origin must be stated on any label for these items unless product is being used as an ingredient (i.e pineapple in fruit cocktail) or product is a small percentage of the finished good.
